Also, advise the Government Printing Office (GPO) of the cancellations of the computer test supplements and knowledge test guides for removal from sales status and disposal of stock.

Current information concerning the practical test standards previously announced in these obsolete ACs is located on the AFS-600 Web site. The Web site contains listings for downloading practical test standards and information on how to purchase printed copies of the practical test standards.

The computer test supplements (FAA-CT-8080 series) are no longer printed within the agency. Information to obtain the supplements is located on the AFS-600 Web site.

The knowledge test guides (FAA-G-8082 series) are now obsolete. Information previously covered in the knowledge test guides is available on the AFS-600 Web site.

Thank you for your action in this matter.
