

FY-2019 Airport Improvement Program Supplemental Appropriation

Airports eligible for “Priority Consideration”

Please note that inclusion on this list is not a guarantee—individual proposed projects must be eligible and justified in accordance with the FAA’s authorizing statute (Title 49 USC Chapters 471 or 475). In addition, please note:

- Not all of these airports have eligible and justified projects that have been through the planning and associated processes.
- Some of these airports are just beginning to update their master plans and it may be quite some time (measured in years) before certain airports are in a position to accept development grants.
- The FAA is currently reviewing potential compliance issues at some of these airports, and in such cases the FAA may not be in a position to award grants to certain airports.
- The FAA is required to maintain a plan of public-use airports. Part of the planning process is to identify, annually, each airport’s role in the system based on activity (e.g., enplanements, based aircraft, etc.). While the number of airports remain largely unchanged from year to year, the FAA reviews and validates the each airport’s classification at the beginning of the fiscal year.
- Please note, with respect to priority consideration designated airports, the FY19 list is slightly different from the FY18 list due to:
 - Changes in Service Levels and hubs from FY18 to FY19
 - Changes in Roles resulting from using the 2019 NPIAS
 - Updated Metropolitan and Micropolitan Areas (from the United States Census Bureau)
- As a result, there were 36 airports that are no longer on the priority consideration list and 24 airports added to the priority consideration list, resulting in a net total difference of 12 fewer priority consideration airports on the FY19 list versus the FY18 list.
- This list is current as of October 25, 2018 (FY19).
