

Launch and Recovery

All launch and recovery procedures are performed under manual control using normal rise-off-ground procedures. Standard procedures are to clear the area with safety, perform final ground checks on the aircraft by external pilots, and launch after receiving approval from the mission commander and telemetry.