

LOST COMMUNICATIONS PROCEDURES

Utilize redundant communications equipment located in the controlling Ground Control Station using military communications radios compatible with air traffic controlling agencies and backup system ground control station radios will be able to communicate with Libby ATC.

In the event of lost communications with Libby ATC, the ground control station will utilize direct landline telephone for communications. This is a direct line to Libby ATC.

In the event of lost communications of the direct line to Libby ATC, the ground control station will utilize a direct landline telephone for communications.

In the event of lost communications with the direct landline telephone, cell phones will be utilized by the ground control station.