RE: Certification of Indiana State University as state government entity

Dear Mr. Mullennix:

We understand the Federal Aviation Administration is in the process of reviewing an approved Certificate of Waiver or Authorization (COA) for Indiana State University to ensure compliance with the current statutory requirements for public aircraft operations.

This letter, in response to your request, is to confirm that Indiana State University, 210 North Seventh Street, Terre Haute, Indiana 48709, is a public institution of the State of Indiana, and, as such, is considered part of the state government.

Ind. Code § 21-7-13-21 provides that, as used in Title 21 of the Indiana Code, "Indiana State University" refers to the state educational institution established under Ind. Code § 21-21-2. Additionally, Ind. Code § 21-7-13-32(a) provides that "State educational institution" means any university, college, or other educational institution: (1) existing on or after March 29, 1971; (2) in Indiana; (3) that provides programs of: (A) collegiate or university education, or (b) other postsecondary education; and (4) that is supported in whole or in part by appropriations made by the general assembly. Subsection (b) of the same Code section indicates that "State educational institution" refers to, among others, Indiana State University.

Indiana State University understands that activities conducted for approved Certificates of Waiver or Authorization (COA) will be conducted as public aircraft in accordance with the definition of public aircraft definition in 49 USC § 40102(a)(41) and will not include operation of aircraft for commercial purposes as described in 49 USC § 40125(b).

I have also enclosed a copy of my delegation of authority for your reference. If you should need further clarification, please contact me at (317) 232-6333 or matt.light@atg.in.gov, or feel free to contact Dr. Richard Baker at Indiana State University using the contact information listed below.

Sincerely,

Matt Light
