

Technician Specialist Requirements

- A Grade 3 or Grade 2 endorsed technician may also hold "Specialist" designations depending on their level of expertise and/or qualification in the relevant field.

- Add fuel and oil to aircraft;
  - Measure aircraft Centre of Gravity (C of G) location;
  - Pre-flight aircraft;
  - Set up launch cradle;
  - Operate launch system;
  - Remove fuel and oil from aircraft.
  - Assemble aircraft out of the box;
  - Disassemble and pack aircraft including the performance of those functions required to make the aircraft suitable for shipping as non-dangerous goods;
  - Perform basic repairs and light servicing of components of the airframe in a field environment;
  - Manage and participate in the "new aircraft check-out" process and where appropriate, sign off those items pertaining to the airframe.
  - Perform basic repairs and light servicing of components of the avionics system in a field environment;
  - Manage and participate in the "new aircraft check-out" process and, where appropriate, sign off those items pertaining to the avionics.
  - Perform basic repairs and light servicing of components of the propulsion system in a field environment;
  - Manage and participate in the "new aircraft check-out" process and, where appropriate, sign off those items pertaining to the propulsion system.
  - Performing heavy servicing and repairs and overhaul of components of the airframe in the workshop environment;
  - Assisting in the design or modification of components of the airframe in conjunction with R&D and Production.
- Vocational training, qualification, or recognized prior experience to enable the performance of the tasks required of a Specialist (Airframe) to the satisfaction of Aerosonde Pty Ltd.

- Performing assembly, heavy servicing, repairs and overhaul of components of the avionics system in the workshop environment;
- Assisting in the design or modification of components of the avionics system in conjunction with R&D and Production.

-Vocational training, qualification, or recognized prior experience to enable the performance of the tasks required of a Specialist (Avionics) to the satisfaction of Aerosonde Pty Ltd.

- Performing assembly, heavy servicing, repairs and overhaul of components of the propulsion system in the workshop environment;
- Assisting in the design or modification of components of the propulsion system in conjunction with R&D and Production

-Vocational training, qualification, or recognized prior experience to enable the performance of the tasks required of a Specialist (Propulsion) to the satisfaction of Aerosonde Pty Ltd.