

Lost Communications Procedures

Loss of communication between pilot and observers.

The pilots and observers will be within a few meters of one another and are in constant communications throughout the flight. In the event of a breakdown in communication between the pilot and the observers the flight mission will be concluded immediately and the UAV will return to the landing strip without delay.